

ABOUT THE FAIR:

Art in the Wright Place (www.fusmadison.org/artfair) is an event planned and implemented by First Unitarian Society. It supports over 45 regional artists in the Unitarian Meeting House, a Frank Lloyd Wright building and historic landmark, and one of nine destinations on the Frank Lloyd Wright Trail. The event promotes a 'buy local' ethos, of high quality, handmade arts and crafts by regional artists.

ABOUT THE SOCIETY:

First Unitarian Society, a 501(c)3 nonprofit religious organization-is a community where curious seekers gather to explore spiritual, ethical and social issues in an accepting and nurturing environment. Unitarian Universalism supports the freedom of conscience of each individual as together we seek to be a force for good in the world. Social justice efforts play a significant role in our organization. FUS' Social Justice Ministries works to put our congregants and our beautiful campus at the heart of social and ecological justice work in the Madison area. Our efforts include responding to the climate crisis, strengthening our democracy, and supporting the liberation and basic human rights and needs of those most oppressed in Madison and beyond.
